

May 22, 2018

BLOG
TALK RADIO

Wide Open Looks: Alan Scherer & Deconstructing Stigma

Join sports writer in recovery and wellness advocate Travis Pipes as he talks with Alan Scherer about his experience in fitness, photography, his story being featured as part of the Massachusetts' McLean Hospital and their 'Deconstructing Stigma' campaign which captures his and others' journey while living life while staying well. You can see promotional campaigns at Boston's Logan International Airport and other places across New England.

McLean Hospital is the number one psychiatric treatment facility in the United States. Check out mcleanhospital.org for more information.

For more about 'Deconstructing Stigma' please navigate to deconstructingstigma.org

Alan's grandfather Jimmy Piersall was a member of the Boston Red Sox and is the first documented case of bipolar disorder in sports. He's the subject of a book and film 'Fear Strikes Out.' We talk about his point of view on that as well.

For more on Wide Open Looks, past episodes, Travis's blog content and his future engagements please do navigate to www.wideopenlooks.com.

Wide Open Looks is a proud member of the Mental Health News Radio Network available here: www.mentalhealthnewsradionetwork.com.